

The Groningen Highlands

6 days, € 524

Introduction

Groningen, the far north with endless views over swaying grain fields and fat clay forced into tight rows of potatoes, interrupted here and there by a tree-lined farmhouse. You can see the seawall from afar as a straight line on the horizon. Stately shelters and tiny workers' houses give a glimpse into the near past. Stiff folk but you can rely on it. Of course we also visit Pieterburen and the seals, but it is even better to see them in real life on the boat, on the way to fantastic Schiermonnikoog. First, the enormous diversity of birds and nature in the Lauwersmeer and the Wadden Sea.

Day to Day

Day 1 Arrival Groningen

The afternoon and evening are there to discover the cycling city of Groningen, to sit on a terrace at the Vismarkt or to climb the Martini Tower for a fantastic view of the city.

Day 2 Groningen - Uithuizermeeden

54 km

Today the 'borgen' route is on the program. Shortly after you have left the city, the landscape opens up. Wide views are interrupted by places such as Ten Boer, Stedum and the now famous Loppersum. Rusthoven is the first Borg but is not open due to earthquake damage, unlike Borg Ekenstein just before Appingedam. Then on towards the sea dyke, Roodeschool and the beautiful blue and white tower of Uithuizermeeden. In the last kilometers 2 beautiful Borgen, the Rensumaborg and the Menkemaborg with a nice terrace.

Day 3 Uithuizermeeden - Anjum

56 km

You wake up in North Groningen, the flat land against the Wadden with a small bulge here and there with some buildings in the landscape, the Wierden. Today's ride takes you further north through open land, along the Zeedijk and with a view of the salt marshes. The LF Wadden route would not be complete without a trip to Noordpolderzijl, the smallest seaport in the Netherlands, and coffee and cake in 't Zielhoes. From Warffum the route goes over the real Hoge Land to Den Anjel and Pieterburen, known for the seal sanctuary and start of the Pieterpad. Via Catholic enclave Kloosterburen and Wierde Ulrum, continue towards NP Lauwersmeer. Along the fish auction and the Cleveringsluizen in Friesland for a warm welcome in Anjum. A day of cycling on Schiermonnikoog? Book an extra night here!

Day 4 Anjum - Zuidhorn41 km

To the left the open water of the Lauwersmeer with in the foreground Scottish Highlanders and Konik horses, to the right green meadows with a farm and a church. Water, boats and white sails, you are in Friesland. The Lauwersmeer National Park is almost completely rounded. In the harbor of Zoutkamp in Groningen, you turn to the monumental mound village of Niehove, once voted the most beautiful village in the Netherlands by Elsevier Weekblad. One last gem before you are in Zuidhorn for the evening, the Piloersemaborg, B&B, gastronomic pearl!

Day 5 Zuidhorn - Groningen54 km

The last ride takes you through the Westerkwartier. Sandwiched between Friesland and Drenthe, this small-scale landscape has its own face. Small meadows bordered by characteristic wood canals and a swamp area with raised moors. The villages of Marum, Leek and Peize are slightly elevated on sandy ridges that run from west to east. The trip through this Groningen bocage landscape is varied and takes you back to the city through the Kop van Drenthe and along the Paterswoldse meer.

Back soon? You can also take the train if you are allowed to take the bike for another day in Groningen City. In the evening, have dinner in the city or on the banks of the Paterswoldse lake.

Day 6 Departure Groningen

After breakfast you will leave for home.
